New Office For Rationing Board

Will Move into Building Occupied by Keystone Club

Headquarters of the Ardmore Rationing Board will be moved across the street from its present location in the Lower Merion Township Building, Ardmore, about the first of March.

The new location will be in a building now occupied by the Main Line branch office of the Keystone Automobile Club at 66 E. Lancaster av. Offices of Rationing Board have been in the magistrates court room of the Township Building, at 75 E. Lancaster av. Main Line business of the Keystone Automobile Club will be handled from the Club's 69th Street office.

R. M. Harman, chairman of the Board, said he doubted if it would be possible to occupy the new headquarters on March 1 because there had to be interior rearrangements to accommodate the staff of the rationing board.

The chairman announced that all holders of ration stamps for premises other than private dwellings in the Board's area have turned in their coupons so that the reduction in rations ordered by the OPA could be effected. He expressed his appreciation for the co-operation of owners and tenants.

Referring to the issuing of the new ration book Harman said:

"The Board is very appreciative of the wholehearted co-operation of the school teachers of Lower Merion and Narberth in handling the registration. Co-operation of the public is requested to help them with this tremendous task."

105 Indicted In Tire Black Mart

Many Accused As Buyers Assert Innocence Of Illegal Intention

Other indictments are forthcoming, according to OPA officials, on the tire black market which was exposed last week when 105 indictments were issued for persons in Philadelphia and adjoining counties.

The first list of indictments included several prominent Montgomery Countyans and residents of the Main Line. Besides Philadelphia and Montgomery the other counties where the tires were sold included Berks, Bucks, Schuylkill, Lehigh, Lancaster and Lebanon.

There were only two ring leaders named in the indictments and the others were accused of being distributors or buyers. According to statements made by many of the buyers they were unaware that they had purchased black market tires.

Sale of tires was frozen December 26, 1941, and the black market became active last Summer.

OPA agents estimated 5000 tires were sold and profits exceeded $1,000,000.

Two Philadelphia tire salesmen were named as the ring leaders. Magistrate Clarence S. Hunsicker, Limerick, and James I. Beider (Continued on Page Two)

Red Cross Here Seeks $350,000

Huge Quota Increase Due To Expansion Of War Services

A thousand Main Line volunteers will start out on March 3 to raise $350,000 for the 1943 War Fund of the American Red Cross.

That amount is the quota set for the Main Line Branch. The 1942 quota was $55,000. The reason? War services.

Last year, 1,500,000 servicemen and their families were given direct aid, and $300 Red Cross workers served with the armed forces. With the constantly expanding war program, these figures will be greatly increased. Already, in the first six weeks of 1943, an increase is apparent.

Last year, more than a million packages were sent to war prisoners in Axis-held countries. This year, each prisoner gets one package every two weeks from the Red Cross.

Last year, 50 percent of the donations received was used for these and other Red Cross services to men in the armed forces, including the making of surgical dressings, building of recreational facilities and collecting blood plasma. This year, 70 percent of the donations received will be so used.

Fredrick W. Dreher, chairman of the War Fund committee for the Main Line Branch, announced this week that the drive will open officially with a luncheon on March 2 in a vacant market in Suburban Square, Ardmore, when the speaker will be Robert E. Bondy, national administrator of services to the armed forces. Canteen workers from the Main Line Branch will serve the luncheon.

The solicitors will conduct an intensive two-week drive under the direction of Mrs. Edward W. Shober, Haverford, vice chairman of the War Fund.

Others on the Main Line committee are Van Horn Ely, Jr., Joseph N. Pew, Jr., Miss Anne B. Townsend and Dr. R. M. Staley, vice chairman; William R. Mooney, special gifts; Robert F. Wood, industries; A. E. Hickerson, publicity, and Charles Diesinger, retailers.

CHRISTMAS GIFT BOXES ARRIVE AT "WAY-DOWN-UNDER" LOCATIONS

Australia and New Guinea Included in This Week's Reports — Who Will Write Saga of Narberth's Great Part in War — Committee May Offer $100 Prize for Best Effort

Comes the war, and the young men of the town leave their homes and are quickly spread all over the world in the struggle to preserve human liberty. As the record now stands, there is apparently no place on the fighting earth where Narberth is not represented, the letters which arrived this week coming from such far-away points as Australia and New Guinea, with the British Isles also being heard from again.

There's substance for a great saga in all that and the Citizens' Committee has in mind offering a $100 War Bond as a prize to stimulate the borough bards in expressing in high poetry exactly what is involved by this exalted enterprise of the youths who have gone forth from this community to serve the precious cause of freedom.

Here is word from more of the lads, some of them now thousands of miles from home, and also from others who will soon be on the foreign fronts.

In this far away hook of the world, somewhere in New Guinea, on January 16, I received your wonderful Christmas package and every single article was well and admired by all the men. Several of the fellows gleefully helped me unwrap the packages as though they were their very own presents, so captivated were they.

No other man of my squadron has received any similar package from his home town and I think it is particularly significant of Narberth's heart when it thus demonstrates its deep concern for its sons so far away from home. Our home town truly comes very close to us when we are thought of in such an impressive way. There was nothing more intimate than those pictures that were inclosed. They are invaluable when we are in a land like this because of the way they recall happy memories.

Words simply cannot express my appreciation for the great thoughtfulness and kindness of my Home Town. Many, many sincere thanks, Charles Chain

I received your grand Christmas box 3 days ago. I thank you all, my own home town folks, for the nice gifts. I wish you all a Merry and Happy 1943. E. C. Beirne

Thank you, citizens of Narberth! Your cheerful gifts and sentiments really gave me a great big Christmas so far away from home. I am certain that all men receiving this wonderful box are very proud of Narberth and I am very grateful. John H. Hoffman

I received your most welcome, and wonderful Christmas box on January 11, 1943, somewhere in

At the January meeting, Lower Merion commissioners set up a "bargain justice" plan for handling blackout violations. The ordinance they passed gave anyone accused of a blackout violation the right to have the charge dismissed by sending in $1.

The minor judiciary order was signed by four magistrates:

Walter B. Lowmes, Jr., Ardmore; Franklin P. Kromer, Cynwyd; C. Howard Meredith, Bryn Mawr, and Otto Duer, Narberth.

The "New Rules of Code of Court Procedure in the Justice's Court" covers both Narberth Borough and Lower Merion Township.

In their notice to the Defense Council two rules of the code are quoted as follows:

"Rule No. 7. The information (about blackout violations) shall be sworn to by the eye witness of the violation before the sitting magistrate.

"Rule No. 11. All violations shall be heard under the Act of Assembly approved April 13, 1942. (This was State Defense Act.)

Editorial Note:—An editorial printed in this newspaper January 28 following passage of blackout violations ordinance (Continued On Page Three)

Australia, and it certainly was a surprise. You can't imagine how happy it made me so many miles from home. Sincere thanks to everyone.

M. F. Claffey

Your gift had the personal touch of a pat on the back or a handshake from each of you. I know all your men in the Services are proud to say they are from Narberth. Luck to you all and a thousand thanks

Guy Mosteller

Received your great package, a little late and was sure glad to get it. It certainly was complete and just the tops in every way. Thank you very much.

Charles L. McGarity

Received the grand Christmas package today and I want to say "Thanks a million!" With home fronts like Narberth we can't fail to win this war. We have plenty on the ball here to keep 'em flying. Best wishes to all the citizens of Narberth and congratulations to "young Bob."

N. T. Heald.

Have just received the wonder box. Thank you all very much. Am on the trot, but must find time to let you know at once. Everything grand.

A. A. McDevitt

I received the wonderful box you Citizens of Narberth so kindly sent me and I want to thank you. It makes a fellow feel so good to hear from the home town. The pictures are very nice and so was everything else. Thanks again.

James J. Dougherty.

Home Gifts Also Find Favor

As the new recruits from Narberth are inducted into Service, they are visited at their homes on the eve of their departure and presented with an attractive hand package of useful gifts. In addition they are given a prepaid subscription to OUT TOWN and also a formal letter conveying the esteem of the community for their contribution to the country's cause.

These letters are individually written on parchment paper and it is expected the lads will retain them as valued keepsakes of their entrance into the Fighting Forces, to become more precious in preserving vivid memories as the years go on.

Here is a glimpse of how the procedure has affected one young man who left recently and do doubt similar expressions will be coming from the camps as the practice becomes well established.

I want to express my sincere appreciation for what I believe to be (Continued on Page Two)

Bargain Justice

read: "Lower Merion's bargain justice for blackout violations may be open to legal scrutiny and a constitutional test. By this arrangement the Township government seems to be usurping judicial function. We ask the solicitor, isn't this an invasion of democracy's trinity of legislative, judicial and administrative powers?"

If the Lower Merion Defense Council conforms to the rules of the minor judiciary it will nullify the action of Lower Merion commissioners in passing the blackout violations ordinance.

Whether anyone's case will be disposed of under the blackout violations ordinance is questionable because no blackout has occurred since its passage.

Magistrates contend that the proposal to circumvent the minor judiciary lacks legal background and would lead to dangerous practices. They contend that air raid wardens are confused as to the meaning and intent of the blackout violations ordinances, and many of them feel that it is taking the teeth out of the enforcement work they have volunteered to do. They have told magistrates that they want their cases to go through the judiciary channels prescribed by the State law. The State Defense Act provides that fines, not exceeding $200, shall be imposed for blackout violations.

The order of the local minor judiciary was discussed at a meeting of the Lower Merion Defense Council Tuesday afternoon.

Wonder Book

Sometimes we wonder if any other book published has so many uses as the telephone directory. We have seen the bigger ones used as door stops and as cushions to raise little Johnny a few inches higher at the table.

People sometimes use directories as hiding places for money, checks, bonds and ration books. But we don't recommend that. Many such valuable papers have been picked up in old directories and shipped away in box cars, to be lost forever.

Yes, the telephone directory is a mighty useful book, but don't forget that its real function is to supply the telephone numbers you wish to call. When in doubt about a number, please look it up. Guessing at numbers usually means a wrong number—a wasted call, a waste of time and a waste of telephone facilities urgently needed to handle the calls of war. The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

Royals.

When the Maroon completed pouring 26 field goals through the hoops for the season's highest score even the most rabid Upi-Tah fan was willing to concede that the L. M. boys were true and mighty champions.

Leading the barrage were Captain Greer Heindel and Don Evans who collected 31 points between them. The former scored seven field goals and a pair of fouls.

All of the L. M. boys played brilliantly and shared equally in the triumph, 14th for the season, 23rd in a row since the setback at the hands of Allentown last year and the 27th straight in the league.

Lower Merion had little trouble with Cheltenham last Friday, winning, 49-20, on the local court. Evans and Heindel were also the big guns in this one. Evans leading the way with 16 points while Heindel contributed 14.

The Maroon was slow to pierce the Cheltenham zone defense, leading by only 20-15 at halftime, but after Coach Anderson explained the how and why during the intermission the Maroon simply ran wild in the closing periods.

? DO YOU KNOW ?

...that a million and a half women, working six days a week in the home would be required to do the work that is done by the nation's laundry and dry cleaning plants. This means that every worker in the laundry and dry cleaning industries are releasing seven women for Red Cross, U. S. O. and other volunteer war service.

...but in making this contribution to victory we are restricted, nevertheless, in many essential materials and in tires, gasoline and driving. All of this causes delays in our production and delivery service.

We appreciate your patience when the return of your laundry is delayed, but we are bending every effort to keep as near as we can to a regular schedule.

Adelizzis Urge Clothing Conservation

Adelizzi Brothers, long-established tailors and cleaners of 102 Forrest av., have experienced their greatest war time difficulties in obtaining such things as metal coat hangers and moth-proof bags.

For metal coat hangers they are substituting cardboard hangers, and if their customers want to help out they are asking them to send back the metal ones.

Fortunately, they point out, that all the materials used in cleaning are still available. Thus, they say, is of major importance because clothing conservation depends on keeping one's wardrobe clean and in good repair.

Like other Narberth merchants they have been forced to curtail deliveries. They are only delivering five days a week and have made a rule to make only one stop a day to a home.

As yet their skilled tailors have not been drafted for the army or absorbed by the manpower demand of defense plants. These men have an average of 17 years' experience in the business.

"So far," the Adelizzi brothers explain, "our difficulties have been only minor compared with other businesses and trades. Like others we are anxious to make what business adjustments are necessary to win the war and win it quickly. As our Narberth Business Council has pointed out, co-operation of customers and merchants is an essential part of the program."
